

TAKE THE FIRST 3 STEPS TO EARTHQUAKE SAFETY

1 Secure Your Space

Avoid injury and protect household contents with products designed for saving lives during an earthquake.

- Keep furniture and televisions from toppling over with specially designed flexible straps
- Secure breakables and knick knacks to shelves using putty, gel or wax
- Hang mirrors and heavy pictures on closed hooks
- Strap down electronics and small appliances
- Secure water heater with metal straps
- Install strong latches on cabinets

QuakeHOLD! straps and fasteners are specially engineered to withstand the forces of an earthquake. They are easy to install and better than metal brackets or home-made solutions.

2 Make A Plan

Ensure the safety of your family during an earthquake or other disaster by having a plan.

- Keep a gas shut-off tool near the gas meter
- Keep flashlights, lightsticks and other emergency lighting accessible around the house
- Discuss your plan with family members to avoid confusion and possible injury
- Keep your vehicle's gas tank at least half full
- Have a radio on hand for public alerts

3 Get A Kit

Have access to an emergency kit with the supplies you and your family need to survive 72 hours. Keep one in your home and one in your car.

- Emergency food and water for 3 days could save lives. Check expiration dates on food, water and medicines annually
- Emergency lighting
- Basic first-aid supplies
- Protection from the elements
- Resourceful tools, rope, etc.

Remember to check expiration dates on your first-aid kit. Ready America first-aid kits offer great value.
